

RELIEF FROM HEAT PROMISED ST. LAWRENCE RIVER PROJECT SIGNED

UNITED STATES AND CANADA SIGNED PACT FOR ST. LAWRENCE

GREAT SEAWAY PROJECT INVOLVING HUGE SUM IS FINALLY AGREED UPON

WASHINGTON, July 18. —(P)—The long-awaited treaty between the United States and Canada for the tremendous St. Lawrence seaway and power project was signed this morning.

Coincident with this action by Secretary Stimson and Minister Herridge of Canada, President Hoover heralded the accomplishment in a statement as "the redemption of a promise which I made to the people of the Midwest."

The agreement, which remains subject to legislative action in both countries, calls for splitting in half the estimated $543,000,000 cost for a 27-foot waterway from the sea to our lake cities of New York, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota. "Such a depth," wrote the President, "will admit practically 80 per cent of ocean shipping of the world to our lake cities of New York, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota."

Disposal of the 1,100,000 horsepower which is expected to be realized on the American side of the international section is reserved for settlement by this country.

In that connection, Mr. Hoover recently informed his rival, the President in November—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York—that federal authorities would confer with those of the interested states to agree on details once the treaty "finally effected."

As to diversion of water from Lake Michigan on the nine-foot waterway from Chicago to the Mississippi, the President was assured by the war department that the treaty provides sufficiently for maintenance of that waterway.

The treaty question has been hanging fire for eleven years, and the officials estimate that once the agreement is in complete effect it will take probably ten years to construct the waterway.

During that time, Mr. Hoover said, "normal growth of the nation will far more than compensate for any diversions from American railways and other American port facilities."

WASHINGTON, July 18.—(P)—The United States and Canada

Hundred Degrees Or Over During Fourteen Days

For 14 days in succession, starting with July 5 readings of 100 or more have been registered on the government thermometer here. The high point of the period was Friday of last week when the mercury reached 106.

Monday morning there was no indication that there would be a break in the heat wave that is not only local, but is extending to all parts of the United States. At 8 o'clock Monday morning the thermometer at the Daily Sun office registered 88 and had climbed steadily until 99 was reached at 11 o'clock.

Lawns are rapidly drying up, but the citizens are making a desperate effort to keep shrubbery and flowers alive by watering regularly.

Farm crops do not seem to be suffering greatly. Scotton keeps its "redemption of a promise" which I made to the people of the Midwest.

PRECEDENT - DESTROYING SESSION CONGRESS ENDED LATE SATURDAY NIGHT

WASHINGTON, July 18. —(P)—The precedent-destroying first session of the seventy-second congress is over—and President Hoover tomorrow will sign the $2,122,000,000 relief bill, writing "finis" if not "well done" to one of the legislators' biggest jobs.

Thus will become law another of the pieces of legislation that defied tradition and stretched this last meeting of congress into its eighth hectic month before adjournment at 11:25 Saturday night.

Like most of the congressmen, Mr. Hoover took advantage of the let-up in business to leave town. He went to his Rapidan camp.

The relief bill in itself would entitle congress to emphasis in the history books. But unusual as are its provisions, it is matched in newness by many other things that kept Washington in a flurry from Dec. 7, 1931, until July 18, 1932.

The closing hours of Saturday's session were anything but calm. They saw:

The senate make its first business for the December session a resolution sponsored by Senator Glass (D., Va.) to replace the eighteenth amendment with another barring the saloon and giving liquor control to the states.

Scores of veterans milling about the capitol and heading for the white house in a demand for the bonus.

A final house vote making adjournment possible by passing the administration's home loan bank bill carrying a currency expansion rider upon which the senate insisted.

Hopes for Watson's Defeat

The weary lawmakers left behind them the record of a session that showed those things approved since December.

The $270,000,000 Hoover debt moratorium.

The two acts setting up a $3,800,000,000 reconstruction finance corporation.

The Glass-Steagall bill to liberalize banking laws and create additional credit.

The $118,500,000 tax law.

The "Norris bill" to save around $180,000,000.

The addition of $125,000,000 to farm bank capital.

Submission to states of a constitution.

Jordan Sunday following the death of Blackstock.

Congress Picketed By Bonus Marchers

In a forlorn attempt to prevent the adjournment of congress until the demands for payment of the bonus have been met by the government, this picket of tired and hungry war veterans is shown patrolling about the national capitol buildings. Soon after this picture was made the marchers were called out to disperse the marchers, but the troops were almost immediately withdrawn and the picket continued. With the adjournment of congress Saturday night many veterans are returning home.

Angelus Temple Evangelist Is In Critical State

LAKE ELSINORE, Calif., July 18.—(P)—Almea Temple McPherson Hutton, evangelist, was reported by her physician today to be in such critical condition that "the slightest shock probably will result in her death."

Mrs. Hutton is suffering, her doctor said, from a basal fracture of the skull. She fainted recently when informed her husband, David Hutton, had been found guilty by a jury in a breach of promise suit brought by Myrtle St. Pierre, a nurse, and fell to the floor, striking her head.

Mrs. Hutton had been recovering from a nervous breakdown and a tropical ailment when she injured her head.

OFFICIALS START INVESTIGATION OF GRAND THEATRE FIRE

DAMAGE AMOUNTS $10,000; BELIEVED HAVE BEEN INCENDIARY

Fire department and police officials were continuing their investigation Monday of the "flash" fire which damaged the Grand Theatre to the extent of $10,000 about 3 o'clock Sunday morning.

Fire Marshall Elmer Keith said that in his opinion the fire was of incendiary origin, and described it as probably a part of the campaign conducted against the theatres in other parts of the state.

The alarm was turned in by Night Patrolman Claude Patterson, after both he and Patrolman Sparks had heard an explosion in the vicinity of the theatre.

When firemen arrived at the scene of the fire and entered at both front and rear simultaneously, they found the auditorium a mass of flames, and firemen entering the rear door reported a strong odor of kerosene.

Investigation Started.

The flames were soon extinguished but not before the entire interior of the building had been considerably damaged. An investigation was immediately started, and some kindling and traces of burned film were found on the stage, film also was found

VETERANS WONDER WHAT TO DO NEXT TO SECURE BONUS

WITH CONGRESS ADJOURNED AND NO PICKETING THINGS ARE QUIET

WASHINGTON, July 18.—(P)—Discouraged because congress has quit, a good many members of the bonus seeking army had decided today the best thing to do was to go home.

A long line formed this morning in front of the veterans administration where transportation is available for the veterans.

Meanwhile, two veterans were arrested for attempting to organize a protest meeting outside of police court where four of their comrades were on trial for trying to picket the White House Saturday night. These arrested today were Alfred Hiale, 48, Detroit, Mich., and John Fabroschski, 39, of Pittsburgh.

At the same time, Judge Isaac Hitt cleared the courtroom of veterans who had congregated to hear the trial of Urban LeDoux, known as "Mr. Zero," and the others arrested at the White House. There was no disorder at the court.

After a long conference among leaders by the section of the army not affiliated with Waters, the name of "The Death March Bonus Army" was adopted and the following officers elected:

Robertson of California, president; Ray Petrie of Oregon, vice president; Joseph Fobran of New York, secretary, and I. C. Schooley of Texas, treasurer.

Robertson and his assistants flatly refused to allow leaders of the radical wing of the army to attend the conference.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—(P)—With no congress to stalk, and a general agreement not to picket the White House, veterans who want their bonus wondered today what to do.

They had no intention of parading on the capitol plaza and staging demonstrations that would lead to the arrest of their leaders, as they did Saturday.

Congress was not meeting. They were so unsuccessful in their attempts to picket the White House that they had agreed with police that they would not so good an idea.

As a result, most of them sprawled about their billets, waiting for somebody to suggest something. Some took advantage of permission to borrow against their bonus certificates enough money for railroad fare and for food home.

Just plain weariness struck veterans today.

ROOSEVELT BOUND HOMEWARD FROM HIS VACATION CRUISE

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE EX- PECTED TO ANNOUNCE CAM- PAIGN PLANS EARLY DAY

WITH GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT, Little Boars Head, N. H., July 18.—(P)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, homeward bound after a vacation cruise along the New England coast, today faced the job of overseeing completion of his presidential campaign organization. He expected to announce his campaign plans within a few days.

His vacation cruise culminated Saturday night at Portsmouth and yesterday he spoke at a large democratic demonstration at Hampton Beach. He planned to return home today by automobile.

Mayor James J. Walker's answer to Samuel Seabury's contention that the chief executive of New York City is unfit to hold office was that of Governor Roosevelt's first considerations on his arrival in Albany.

Police estimated 50,000 gathered yesterday to hear whom they believed would be the opening of Roosevelt's campaign. The governor dismissed politics, however, with the statement that Sunday was no day for political argument.

He talked of his cruise in the yawl Myth II, his experiences as an assistant secretary of the navy and his knowledge of navigating New England waters.

The presence of local leaders, however, gave the Hampton Beach meeting a political tinge. None of the democratic leaders present was of the Al Smith faction. They came from Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Maine.

It was no secret that Roosevelt leaders in New England were concerned over Smith influence.

Meets Smith Leaders

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., July 18.—(P)—Paving the way for a possible reconciliation with the Smith faction in Massachusetts, Governor Roosevelt, en route to Albany, today met with Smith leaders at the seaside home of John H. Mahy, national chairman of the democratic victory fund drive.

Among the conferees was Leopold M. Goulston, a close friend of

SOUTHWESTERN AND NORTHERN CENTRAL AREA STILL HEATED

EAST AND MIDWEST SEES LETUP OF UNSEASONABLY HOT WEATHER SUNDAY

(By The Associated Press.)

Some relief from the blistering heat which contributed to five deaths in Texas over the week end was in prospect today as slightly unsettled weather prevented temperatures from climbing again to record-breaking levels.

While today was uncomfortably hot, it was likely that maximum temperatures would range in the low nineties. Yesterday's top marks, with few exceptions, were between 98 and 106 degrees.

The latest death attributed to excessive heat was that of Theo. C. Bering, 60, Houston manufacturer. He suffered a heart attack while the mercury was hovering around the 104 degree mark there yesterday.

Other deaths blamed to heat were: Leslie Turner Nance, 50, a Dallas bakery salesman. He was prostrated while making a delivery and died at a hospital. Dallas had a high mark of 99 degrees yesterday.

S. Bronson Cooper, 53, of Beaumont, whose father was once congressman from that district, succumbed to the heat.

T. P. Adams, oil operator, was found dead in bed after suffering a heart attack Friday night. He formerly lived at Wichita Falls.

C. B. Pickle, a former, collapsed while working in his field near Greenville.

High temperatures reported for yesterday included: Abilene, 100; Amarillo, 98; Austin, 104; Brownsville, 98; Corpus Christi, 96; El Paso, 100; Galveston, 102; San Antonio, 104; Plainview, 97; San Angelo, 100; Kerrville, 99; Denton, 101; San Marcos, 106; Corsicana, 106; Gainesville, 105; Wichita Falls, 105; and Fort Worth, 100.

(By The Associated Press.)

Southwestern and North Central States still perspired today under a heat wave which had abandoned the east and midwest after causing fifty additional deaths over the week-end.

'LITTLE GREY MAN FROM TEXAS' AGAIN TAKES PLACE AS ADVISOR FOR DEMOCRATS

Something About Chapparral Jack In Vacation Time

WASHINGTON, July 18.—(P)—Speaker Garner couldn't wait for the House to quit because, he said from his chair, Mrs. Garner "has procured tickets to leave at 6:01 this afternoon."

Mrs. Garner said she is willing to "putter about the home place" in Uvalde, Texas, while the speaker fishes. But when he goes out after the vice-presidential election she intends to go along.

Replied Speaker John Garner: "The election is already over. What I hate is to quit this body and go somewhere else."

Man Burned to Death In Hotel
Fire Comanche

COMANCHE, Tex., July 18.—(P)—Jim Holmquist was burned to death in a fire which razed Hotel Carter shortly after midnight last night. He had been employed by the highway department several years. He was 49.

Fifteen other guests of the hotel escaped but most of them lost their clothes and personal belongings. Holmquist was sleeping in a room on the second floor of the wooden building.

NEW YORK, July 18.—(P)—"The little grey man from Texas" is back on the political scene, acting as advisor to a presidential nominee who was just a youngster, filling an under secretaryship, when he himself was at the height of his activities—in Washington.

Col. Edward M. House, who picked Franklin D. Roosevelt as his pre-convention candidate for the democratic presidential nomination as he had picked Woodrow Wilson under the same circumstances 20 years ago, had his most recent chat with the nominee aboard the Myth II off Marblehead, Mass., Saturday.

Colonel House came out months ago in support of Governor Roosevelt, who was assistant secretary of the navy when he himself was President Wilson's adviser and emissary.

The man President Wilson sent three months before the world war to warn Great Britain, France, and Germany of the imminence of war, will be 74 years old July 26. Until he appeared, apparently as a Roosevelt adviser, nothing had been heard of him in a political connection for some years.

There isn't much speculation as to whether he will have any title or take any formal part in the Roosevelt campaign organization. He never did during his long association with Wilson.

The Wilson-House association broke up on what was to be the latter's note of mystery. On June 19, 1919, after he had served as Wilson's spokesman at the peace conference, House and the President parted in Paris—never to meet again.

Years later he wrote to a friend: "My separation from Woodrow Wilson was, and will be, to me a tragic mystery—a mystery that now can never be dispelled, for

BALANCE OF POWER HELD BY UNDECIDED VOTERS AS FINAL WEEK OF CAMPAIGN OPENED

BY R. W. BARRY,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

AUSTIN, July 18.—(P)—Many Texas voters, undecided about a choice for governor of their state, are to decide this week whether to favor the next Saturday's democratic primary.

Politicians sensed a general air of indecision and many were of the opinion those who had not yet gone to the banner of any of the eight aspirants probably held the balance of power.

Candidates report a mystifying attitude on the part of the audiences which have heard them. In most instances there has been an absence of the customary noise and hurrah. Folks have been prone to sit quietly and listen.

M. H. Wolfe of Dallas, one of the four most active candidates for governor on the stump, has suddenly but vigorously taken to the hustings an uncompromising defense of prohibition and the eighteenth amendment. He has challenged the sincerity of Beeville prohibition record of Governor R. S. Sterling, asking re-election to a second term.

Wolfe is expecting to receive big support from members of an organization known as the allied campaigners, having as its purpose preservation of the Eighteenth Amendment. Affiliated with it are Women's Christian Temperance Union organizations and ministerial alliances.

Wolfe planned to carry his campaign into South Texas this week, having booked speeches at Corpus Christi for today, Beeville tomorrow and Houston on Wednesday. He planned to speak at Waco Thursday and wind up at his home town, Dallas, Friday.

Massed Attack For Sterling.

Friends of Governor Sterling had arranged for a massed oratorical attack. The chief executive's Dallas headquarters announced 300 voluntary exhorters would take to the road today and keep relentlessly at it until the polls open next Saturday.

The governor planned to put

MORE THAN HUNDRED SUFFER FROM FOOD POISONING SUNDAY

MASSILLON, O., July 18.—(P)—More than 100 persons were believed to be poisoning, apparently from food eaten at a luncheon held in connection with the communist party's state ratification convention here.

Approximately 300 were stricken with illness after the luncheon yesterday and hospital facilities were taxed beyond capacity to care for the sufferers. Most of the victims were released, but about 100 were kept under treatment and several remained in a critical condition.

The luncheon consisted of potato salad, luncheon meats and coffee. Confusion fell upon the convention, then, nearing adjournment, as the delegates, suddenly made ill and fearing for their lives, began appealing for help.

All available doctors, nurses and ambulances were summoned. Private cars and police wagons were pressed into service to haul the suffering to hastily set-up emergency stations.

Doctors found it possible to discharge between 100 and 150 patients as out of danger, shortly after treatments were given them, but were undetermined as to the exact nature of the illness.

DEATH AS RESULT OF THIRD DEGREE WILL BE PROBED

BANDIT SUSPECT ALLEGED TO HAVE DIED AS RESULT OF POLICE BRUTALITY

MINEOLA, N. Y., July 18.—(P)—Nassau county, an attorney announced today, is to be sued for $100,000 for the death of Hyman Stark, who died after lengthy "interrogation" during which he received almost countless bruises.

Samuel Leibowitz, the attorney, said during progress of a John Doe inquiry into the death, that he had been retained by Stark's family to sue the amount of money the former convict and narcotic addict "might have been expected to earn during an honest lifetime."

Leibowitz is also counsel for one of the three men arrested with Stark and asserted that their defense on charges of having assaulted the aged mother of a county detective during a robbery would be "extremely simple."

MINEOLA, N. Y., July 18.—(P)—Long Island's "third degree" scandal—the death of Hyman Stark, young bandit suspect, after eight hours of beating by police—gets a airing today.

As he prepared to appear before Supreme Court Justice Steinbrink in a John Doe inquiry, District Attorney Elvin N. Edwards declared that would be no "white-washing" of the police.

Stark died of a fractured larynx Friday night, eight hours after he had been arrested as one of four men accused of beating and robbing Mrs. Valeria Hlzenski, mother of Joseph Hlzenski, Nassau county detective.

Edwards has announced that "apparently an over-enthusiastic police officer broke Stark's Adam's apple." The Herald-Tribune said today his life might have been saved had police informed hospital authorities in time that he had been beaten and strangled. If the exact nature of his injury had been known a silver tube could have been put down his throat to keep him from strangling.

Edwards did not name the man or men who struck the prisoner, although Detective Hlzenski and Deputy Chief of Police Frank J. Dapunt of Oyster Bay, who was in charge of the department's emergency squad, had been present.

After the funeral of Stark, friends and others who saw the body declared he must have received a brutal third-degree. Both eyes were blackened and his body covered with black and blue spots.

OPEN LETTERS IN BEHALF
A. N. JUSTICE, CANDIDATE
FOR LEGISLATURE
The following letters in the interest of A. N. Justice, candidate for Representative in the Texas Legislature, speak for themselves. From Chairman of Committee

House of Representatives, State of Texas, Austin.
Carrizo Springs, Texas,
June 27th, 1932.

Hon. A. N. Justice,
Carrizo Springs, Texas.
Dear Mr. Justice: I am in receipt of information to the effect that you have opposition in your candidacy for re-election as Representative in the Legislature.

Without any thought of reflection upon the character and ability of those who might be opposing you, I just want to state that in all my service in the Legislature, I have been on the job from day to day, and hour to hour, as steadily as any one I know. You have not attempted to usurp time and needlessly prolong the legislative sessions at great expense to the people.

Mr. Justice, I have always noticed that you cast your vote for or against a measure as you seemed best, and if you ever voted "present not voting" vote, I do not remember it. As I remember it, your efforts were in a large measure in behalf of the educational movement of our State, but you were also known and grouped with those who were careful upon the question of expenditure of money and holding taxes down.

My association with you has been such that I have always regarded you as a man of character, highest integrity and worthy in every respect, and I believe that is the attitude of all of your colleagues toward you.

With very kindest personal regards, Sincerely your friend,
A. F. JOHNSON,
Chairman on Judiciary.

Chairman of Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence.
Petersch & Petersch, Attorneys-at-law, Fredericksburg, Texas.
June 30, 1932.

Hon. A. N. Justice,
Carrizo Springs, Texas.
Dear Mr. Justice: I have just been informed that you have considerable opposition in your race for re-election. I am certainly sorry to hear this, as I have known men like you in the Legislature. I certainly hope that your constituency will recognize the excellent service rendered by you, and will return you for further service. Very sincerely your friend,
ALFRED PETERSCH,
Chairman Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence, House of Representatives.

S. J. MILES MET ROOSEVELT AND OTHER LEADERS

ATTENDED FURNITURE EX- HIBITS ALSO DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION IN CHICAGO

Combining business with pleasure, S. J. Miles returned this morning from the national Democratic convention and the national furniture exhibition immediately following. He reported that he bought heavily for the coming season, finding furniture prices at a low level and a market loaded with values.

Mr. Miles declared that the national Democratic convention supplied memories that would last a lifetime, with the thousands of attendees, fiery outbursts, constant tension because of unexpected developments, and refusal to perform in any anticipated direction.

Immediately after the convention, Mr. Miles met Franklin D. Roosevelt, presidential nominee, his wife, and other members of his family, and expressed a likeability for the New Yorker because of his hearty manner and pleasant personality. Mr. Miles also became acquainted with another of the convention leaders, William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury and leader of the California delegation.

Popular Young
Kerens Reader Is Presented There

A large group of friends of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Owen enjoyed a rare treat Thursday evening when Mrs. M. S. Cook of Corsicana presented their daughter, Lella Clyde, reader, in a twilight program.

The guests were met by Mr. and Mrs. Owen and after viewing the many beautiful shrubs and flowers, were seated on the spacious lawn when the recital was given.

Miss Owen, who has studied under Mrs. Cook for the last two years was introduced by her teacher who outlined the program giving a sketch of the author of each selection.

Miss Owen was praised very highly for the progress made during the last two years due to her willingness to work and her ability. Although Lella Clyde has made many previous appearances before the public as a reader, her program combining both serious and humorous selections, showed just how versatile she is as a reader and excited the enthusiasm of the entire audience.

Her presentation of Italian, negro and Irish dialect was splendid and was the impersonation of the little group of actors. The exception from Mary Carey's "The Wedding."

The entire program was thoroughly enjoyed by a most interesting and appreciative audience and bespoke for Mrs. Cook great ability as a teacher and for Lella Clyde, unusual talent as a reader. The program included:

First Group—Two poems by Wynne Montgomery.
Now That 'Tis Old-time merriment Mother in Everyday Dress.
The Bridge-Builder. Author unknown.

Second Group—
By Grace Nowell Crowell.
Sons.
Bluebonnets.
Pedro and I.
Third Group—Dialects—
Italian—Between Two Loves.
Darky—'Tis Back Off Too.
Irish—Kitty O'Toole.
Excerpt from Mary Carey's "The Wedding."

The above recital taken from last week's Kerens Tribune was of special interest to the many friends and admirers of Mrs. Cook, as well as to the many Corsicana friends of Mr. and Mrs. Owen.

Mrs. Owen has identified herself with the club life of Corsicana, and has been a very active member of the Better Gardens Club.

Sory lives at Jacksonville, where he has a position with the Gulf Oil Company. Miss Edith Weaver is the popular young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Weaver. There is a sweet sentiment in Miss Weaver's selection, being the birthday of her grandmother, the late Mrs. J. H. Pinch. Games of bridge were enjoyed at the conclusion of the breakfast. The guest list with the following gave readings: Ruby McCrarr, Walter Lee Hendon, and Beth Earle.

Wynona Melton, Wayne Melton, Randolph Mitchell and Peggy Jean Klesinger appeared in dances while the music was furnished by the A. and M. Root Beer Boys, Martin Spradling, R. B. McEntire, Chester Norris, Cody Brown and William Love, Jr.

The picnic was a most enjoyable affair and was largely attended.

Friday Hottest Day of Summer In Corsicana

FIRM STAND OF UNITED STATES WRECKED ACCORD

The hottest weather of the season was recorded here Friday when the government thermometer registered 100 degrees as the maximum for the 24-hour period ending at 7 o'clock Saturday morning. The minimum temperature for the same time was 78.

Thursday temperature was 103 and the low point 78.

The thermometer at the Daily Sun office registered 102 at 2 p. m. Saturday afternoon, two degrees less than at the same time Friday.

PARIS, July 16.—(P)—The storm raised abroad by the report of Premier Herriot's statement on the connection of the Paris-Lausanne accord with great Britain and American war debts today in preoccupied official circles today in spite of an official announcement yesterday intended to clarify the situation.

Yesterday's statement, officially sponsored and following by one of President Hoover's letters to Senator Borah declaring the United States would not be influenced on the debt question by any united front in Europe, emphasized it was far from the intention of France to form such a front.

Any assertion that the recent Franco-British accord would restrict Great Britain in making new arrangements for war debt payments to the United States was palpably absurd, it said.

The principal Paris newspapers carefully avoided comment on these developments today but some of the same nationalist organs excoriated the Hoover letter.

Emile Bure, writing in L'Ordre said, "such an extravagance would be laughable in less catastrophic times."

"President Hoover led his country to ruin," M. Bure continued, "while predicting prosperity. Shall we continue to accept him as a guide?"

The upshot of the explanations yesterday appeared to be that Premier Herriot considers the Franco-British accord binds Great Britain to consult and advise with France before making any new arrangements for payment of its war debts to the United States, but does not in any way prevent an individual agreement.

Statements before the Senate the furor was attributed to Premier Herriot Wednesday by the Havas (French) news agency and was considered semi-official at the time. The French government issued no denial that the premier had made such an assertion in reporting the accord to the finance committee of the Chamber of deputies.

The official French attitude was described as belief it would be best to allow all interpretation of both the Lausanne gentlemen's agreement and the Franco-British accord to lie dormant. Interpretations it was said, would be likely to cause misunderstanding and it was pointed out there probably would not be any debt negotiations with the United States until after the American national election.

The Havas news agency, however, informed the Associated Press it had made no correction of its report of M. Herriot's assertions concerning the accord, and it expected to make none.

ORAL ARGUMENTS HEARD IN ATTEMPT OF NEGRO TO VOTE

FEDERAL JUDGE HEARS CASE WHEREIN BLACKS SEEK ENTER DEMO PRIMARY

SAN ANTONIO, July 16.—(P)—Oral arguments over whether negroes are allowed to vote in the Democratic primary next Saturday were heard by Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly of Houston in federal court this morning.

Arguments were made in the injunction suit of C. Booker and T. M. Palmer, members of the Bexar County Colored Voters' League, by which they seek to restrain the county clerk and party officials from carrying out provisions of a restriction, passed by the state Democratic executive committee, barring negroes from the primaries.

Woodville Rogers, one of the attorneys for the negro organization, presented the injunction petition to the court, arguing that the state executive committee is a state agency and thereby governed by the United States supreme court ruling which held state election laws barring negroes from the primaries invalid.

It was argued that the executive committee became a state agency when it passed the resolution, which it was given no authority in the Democratic convention.

S. J. Brooks, retained by the county Democratic executive committee, argued that the state executive committee is not in any sense of the word an agency of the state, and that customs and laws of the country for many years have allowed groups of voters to band together under a party and to regulate their organization.

He also argued that the injunction application was in fact a mandamus application and that the federal court is without power to issue a mandamus. He asked that the plaintiffs be ruled out of court on this point.

J. H. Fuchs of New Braunfels was also employed by the Bexar county Democratic executive committee on behalf of the state committee. Carl Wright Johnson and Rogers are representing the plaintiffs.

It was pointed out in court this morning that the proceedings were instituted only in behalf of negro voters in Bexar county. Whether negro voters other than those of the state will be affected by the courts ruling is problematical.

PEAKING INTEREST FERGUSON ATTORNEY SAYS PAPERS BOUGHT ACTIONS GOVERNOR STER- LING SCORED BY HAROLD KNOP, WACO

Portraying the forces arrayed in the gubernatorial race in Texas at the present time as subsidized by powerful newspapers, money-lenders to recoup the minds of the people and big corporations against the common man, tenant farmer, landlord, small merchant, country banker and laborer, Harold Knop, Waco attorney, spoke in the interest of the candidacy of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson in the governor's race here Saturday night.

The Waco attorney spoke from a truck on West Fourth avenue between Main and Beaton streets. He said he voted for Sterling two years ago. He charged that the common people would drive the money changers and the Sterling administration from the capitol and the governor's mansion.

"The Fergusons are coming," the speaker shouted, and declared that the city was heard from the Red Cross, the United States, and from West to West Texas.

John R. Cunningham, local attorney, campaign manager in Navarro county, for the Ferguson forces, presided and introduced the speaker to the crowd.

Knop outlined various platforms sponsored and favored by the Fergusons, particularly those relative to the ad valorem charges and the proposed redistribution of the gasoline tax money. The planks relative to rendering and paying taxes on vendor's lien notes and equipment were stressed.

The actions of Governor Sterling were assailed with especial attention to martial law in the East Texas oil fields and the alleged excessive cost of the construction of the highway in Texas. He charged that Sterling was incompetent. He rapped the present governor because of his alleged relations with the "Hoovercrats" and Tom Love.

Knop declared that the people would be fools no longer, and let the present crowd put a "thorn" in the back of the "Hoovercrats" by electing James E. Ferguson on a cross of lies. He said that Jim Ferguson was no saint and did not want anybody to think him as a saint, but he said that the official and private acts of James E. Ferguson had been closer scrutinized and watched during the past 18 years than any other man in America, and that no illegal acts had been found.

He (Ferguson) was impeached because he had the guts to veto the exorbitant appropriation for the University of Texas," the speaker shouted. He said that if Jim was guilty of one-tenth of which he is accused, he would be in the penitentiary and not running his race for governor at the present time.

Knop said it was easy to secure indictments in Travis county and that juries in that county were biased for indicting public officials tried there. He charged that Ferguson was not popular in Travis county, but that his opponents had never dared to attempt to try him on any charge.

The Langhorne Case. The speaker spent considerable time discussing the various angles of the celebrated Langhorne case. William Langhorne's sentence was commuted to life imprisonment, he said, and Jack Wolters, a Sterling supporter, was his attorney at the trial of the first case. Later T. H. McGreggor was employed for a civil suit and a later trial and that Ferguson was employed in the case after Dan Moody was governor. He charged that Ferguson opponents are not using all of the facts in the deed of trust about which considerable discussion is going on. He said the instrument provided that if Langhorne outlived Ferguson and McGreggor, the deed of trust was null and void.

Speaking of the pardon record, Knop said that if any person could prove Mrs. Ferguson received $1 for issuing a pardon, he would vote for Ross Sterling.

Scores Moody. The speaker paid his respects to Dan Moody and asked why the companies employed Moody as their attorney.

Knop declared Mrs. Ferguson wore the masks from the Klan and said that Queen Isabella of Spain pledged her jewels to Christopher Columbus on his venture to discover the Americas; that the British assumed the rule of the waves under Queen Elizabeth; that Queen of Arc saved France; that Queen Victoria's rule was the most peaceful in English history, and that Mrs. Ferguson's administration was the most peaceful in Texas as an answer to the criticism being at the head of the government.

LIGHT OF PUBLICITY GONE BUT LINDBERGH BABY CASE IS OPEN QUIET AND SYSTEMATIC SEARCH FOR KIDNAPERS AND KILLERS KEPT UP

TRENTON, N. J., July 18.—(P)—The light of publicity no longer shines on the search for the murderers of the kidnapped Lindbergh baby, but through the dark channels of the underworld the hunt goes on.

Time, and completion of sensational early developments, have cast a screen between the law's pursuit and the public gaze, but pursuit has never been relaxed—nor will it be.

On May 13, the day after the body was found in a roadside hollow near the high white home from which the baby had been taken March 1, President Hoover himself issued instructions, which ever since have been like a beacon leading the emissaries of the law along a trail which can have but one ending.

His instructions were issued to members of federal agencies, but they were accepted as a welcome command by state and city officials as well. The case is still very much alive and there is no possibility that it will be forgotten while the baby killers still roam free.

The state police station at Alpine is still operating as a headquarters for the hunt. Tips are still received daily and every one is run down. State and city investigators who have put aside their uniforms for civilian garb slip away at frequent intervals on secret missions, the results of which are known only to them and their superiors.

Flames in Tanker Extinguished But Bodies Remain

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 18.—(P)—A three-day fight to extinguish flames enveloping the oil tanker Rawleigh Warner aboard which five were known to have died in a series of explosions was ended today but the heat of its plates prevented search for four members of the crew still missing. Firemen said they got glimpses of bodies in the hold of the ship, beached on the west bank of the Mississippi river north of New Orleans, but could not push below for a detailed investigation until the vessel cooled.

The tanker, loaded with gasoline, exploded and burst into flames Friday. The cause was undetermined.

FORMER AMBASSADOR TO UNITED STATES FROM FRANCE DIES

JULES J. JUSSERAND WAS GREAT FRIEND TO AMERICA
AND HER PEOPLE

PARIS, July 18.—(P)—Jules J. Jusserand, 7, former French ambassador to the United States, died this morning.

For some time he had been suffering from a kidney ailment but his death was not expected. It was learned he had been under the constant care of a physician for the past eight days because of a constitution weakened by a series of kidney operations some years ago.

Madame Jusserand was with him when he died.

"Up to the very last," she said, "my husband thought and talked of the America which he loved so dearly."

"He wanted me to tell your people this: That he was deeply worried in recent times by the feeling in the United States against France."

Despite his ill-health he had tried by radio speeches and other means to explain the two peoples to each other.

Jean Jules Jusserand's 22 years of French ambassador to the United States established a record for the longest continuous assignment in the history of Washington diplomatic corps of which he likewise was dean for an unparalleled number of years. During these years he gradually became the confident and mentor of the younger members of the corps and the close personal friend of many American public men.

M. Jusserand was a diplomat of the old school. Because of his unassuming manner and quiet method of his official relations and his unofficial Washington can point to a few brilliant accomplishments by him, but his friends world affairs provided a fitting measure for the attainments and abilities he recognized so readily by those with whom he came in contact.

Avoids Friction. He devoted himself first of all to avoiding friction of any kind in all of his official relations and permeating his whole life was a certain and definite plan to ever cement closer the friendly connections between the great republics of the old and new worlds.

A knowledge that he had gained the desired end seemed always to be compensation enough for him. He once said he never boasted of a diplomatic victory, as he had no desire to the discomfort of the other party.

M. Jusserand had enviable relations of personal friendship, particularly with the American president, from Roosevelt to Coolidge. Early in the administration of Roosevelt, the ambassador, then newly arrived, developed an intimacy with the chief executive seldom equalled in diplomatic annals. He became a personal friend of Mr. Roosevelt in the latter's many rigorous pastimes, almost a daily competitor in the games of the "tennis cabinet," and a companion in the trying pedestrian feats in which Mr. Roosevelt so often indulged.

Panama Negotiations. Only high American officials of those days are able to properly calculate the effect of this intimacy on the delicate negotiations for transfer of the French rights in the Panama Canal to America. Whether it was coincidence, history records a more promising aspect in the negotiations immediately after M. Jusserand interested himself in them. The good footing established by the ambassador continued through the administrations of Taft, Wilson and Harding, and through more than a year of the presidency of Coolidge.

It was in 1924, at the moment France was making her first overture toward the United States, that the newly-constituted Herriot regime at Paris appointed Emile Daeschner as ambassador to Washington. M. Jusserand, who had held the post since 1902 through vicissitudes which included the grave difficulties of a world war, was a much disappointed man; but he remained philosophically loyal to his government. When he sailed from New York on Jan. 8, 1922, he said in response to a request for some expression of his parting emotion:

Loved Americans. "The most important years of my life I have spent in your country. I leave my duties now in the hands of my successor, and depart full of love for Americans and your America. M. Daeschner is an upright and sincere man, a diplomat and a thinker."

Then, with that twinkle in his eye which has helped win him a

TEXANS ENABLED TO VIEW THEIR STATE CAPITOL BUILDING

RAILROAD ENTERPRISE TO SEND MANY TO AUSTIN FOR CHANCE DENIED BEFORE

By R. W. MARRY.

AUSTIN, July 18.—(P)—At least one Texas railroad has enough enterprise to realize that many Texans never have seen their state capitol building, that massive structure the state received in a swap for three million acres of its school land. It was built of Texas red granite.

The railroad has advertised a two dollar round trip fare to Austin from Fort Worth, Longview, Laredo and Corpus Christi to give interested persons a chance to see the state capital and its governmental buildings. The invasion of excursionists has been set for Sunday, July 24.

The board of control announced that it would see that the elevators, usually tied up on the Sabbath, are manned throughout the day.

Extra guides will be on hand to conduct the visitors through the state affairs are administered. The legislative halls, and famous paintings of Texas battles, historic incidents, and state figures who had a hand in Texas affairs beginning from the day of Stephen F. Austin and Gen. Sam Houston, will be open to view.

May Enter Dome. Those who care to climb winding stairs from the fourth floor may go to the dome, which stands 313 feet from the ground. The elevators are no further than the fourth floor.

At the time of its construction, and until comparatively recent years, the capitol was one of the tallest and largest buildings in the world. It ranks among the big structures of the world today, measuring 600 feet from east to west, and 287 feet from north to south. It covers three acres. The entire floor space being about 6 acres.

Other Interesting Buildings. There are other interesting state buildings here, including the plant of the University of Texas, whose campus now is being dotted with fine, modern structures, which in the last few years have replaced many temporary frame "shacks" thrown up to tide the institution through an emergency. Oil came in on some of the University's vast land holdings in West Texas and there isn't anything it needs at this time that has not been provided or will soon be furnished.

Austin, meanwhile, is putting on her best bib and tucker, getting ready to greet Mr. and Mrs. Texas and their boys and girls when they come to the capital next Sunday.

Many Candidates. There are so many candidates in the Texas Democratic primary for the three congressmen at large

Freak Cantaloupe Shown By Farmer Jester Community

Monroe Woodard of Jester brought a freak cantaloupe to the Daily Sun Office Saturday afternoon. Two melons had grown together in such a manner as to make a "V". The melon, or cantaloupe, were normal in every other respect and the flavor was fine.

While in the office Mr. Woodard said that the farmers were making extensive preparations for living a thome next winter as they were not only canning fruit and vegetables, but were putting up dried peas and beans.

places that a "Will Rogers" doubtless could have at least gone into the second primary (witness success of the Oklahoma school teacher, who is a Will Rogers). Because many of those aspiring for congress at large seats do not have a state-wide acquaintance, many voters are likely to let names guide their pencils when they start marking the lost ballots.

For instance, there is the well-known Texas political name of Joseph Weldon Bailey. The son whose father once was an idolized United States senator from Texas is a candidate for congressman at large. There is a Terrell, another well known name in Texas politics, and several others that might attract the fancy of voters who have not had the time nor inclination to look into the candidates' platforms. There isn't a single Smith in the lost. Some Al Smith probably overlooked a bet, or did he?

It will be interesting just to see how the congressman at large candidates are sifted for the August run off.

CHICAGO MERCHANT IS DEAD, AS CARDS SAID HE WOULD BE

POLICE DELVING INTO MUR-
DER OF STOREKEEPER
ON SATURDAY NIGHT

CHICAGO, July 18.—(P)—Police shuffling through but a few clues today in their investigation of the slaying of George Carl, storekeeper, foretold, his widow said, 60 hours in advance by "cards of death" she drew from a neighborhood fortune teller's hands.

They held for questioning Ivan Grille, 38, a brother-in-law of the dead man, who they said they had learned sold Mrs. Vera Carl, the widow, a $5,000 insurance policy with double indemnity clause in which she was named beneficiary. Grille, however, denied having any insurance dealings with Carl.

Mrs. Carl told police she and her mother had warned Carl that on Thursday she turned up three cards which predicted his death at the home of Mrs. Susie Ballo, who has a neighborhood reputation as a soothsayer.

Carl was found shot to death Saturday night in his Southside grocery store by his wife and son. The widow notified police after calling a friend, John Pettek. The rear of the store was in much disorder, the cash register overturned and empty.

Police Lieut. Herbert Burns said while Carl might have been killed by robbers, he was investigating also the possibility that the slayer had simulated robbery. No weapon was found.

The position in which the body was found indicated, officers said, that the slayer had sat talking to Carl.
